Question 1

Find out how the person sitting beside you thinks about "privacy".

A. You must find out how the society around that person has contributed to their understanding of privacy. Describe this along the aspects of society such as education, religion, media, regulations, family and friends, customs, etc.

B. Is your view on privacy different from your friend's? If so, what exciting stories or surprising points made you feel that way?

Question 2

Let's go back to 2020 to the first outbreak of COVID in the UK. Suppose the government handles the situation by quarantining the first batch of identified patients in selected locations. Most of the quarantined patients are immigrants. By human error, the patient details are leaked to the public. What possible outcomes can this breach have on society and the patients?
